

Disability Ability: Beverly Devries' Inspiring Story of Overcoming Adversity

Beverly Devries is a remarkable woman who has triumphed over adversity to become an inspiration to others.

Born with a rare genetic disorder called arthrogryposis multiplex congenita, Bev has faced challenges her entire life. This condition affects the development of the joints, muscles, and tendons, and it can cause a variety of physical impairments. In Bev's case, it has limited the movement in her arms and legs, and it has also caused her to have a curved spine and shortened stature.

Despite the challenges she has faced, Bev has never let her disability define her. From a young age, she has been determined to live a full and active life. She has participated in a variety of sports, including swimming, track and field, and basketball. She has also been involved in music and theater, and she has even written a book about her experiences.

Bev's positive attitude and determination have been an inspiration to many. She has shown that anything is possible, regardless of the challenges we face. She is a role model for people with disabilities, and she is also an inspiration to everyone who knows her.

Early Life and Education

Beverly Devries was born in 1969 in Winnipeg, Manitoba. She was the youngest of four children, and she was born with arthrogryposis multiplex congenita. This condition affects the development of the joints, muscles, and tendons, and it can cause a variety of physical impairments. In Bev's case, it has limited the movement in her arms and legs, and it has also caused her to have a curved spine and shortened stature.

Despite the challenges she faced, Bev's parents were determined to give her a full and active life. They enrolled her in mainstream schools, and they encouraged her to participate in a variety of activities. Bev excelled in school, and she was also active in sports, music, and theater.

After graduating from high school, Bev attended the University of Manitoba. She majored in sociology, and she minored in women's studies and disability studies. Bev was an active member of the university community, and she was also a vocal advocate for people with disabilities.

Career and Advocacy

After graduating from university, Bev worked as a social worker for several years. She then decided to pursue a career in disability advocacy. She worked for a number of organizations, including the Council of Canadians with Disabilities and the Canadian Association for Community Living.

In her advocacy work, Bev focused on a number of issues, including accessibility, employment, and education. She was a strong advocate for the rights of people with disabilities, and she was instrumental in the development of a number of policies and programs that have improved the lives of people with disabilities.

In addition to her work as an advocate, Bev has also written a book about her experiences. Her book, "Disability Ability: A Memoir," was published in 2015. In her book, Bev shares her personal story, and she also discusses the challenges and opportunities that people with disabilities face.

Personal Life

Beverly Devries is married to Mike, and they have two children, Amanda and Aaron. Bev and her family live in Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Bev is an active member of her community. She is a member of the board of directors of the Manitoba League of Persons with Disabilities, and she is also a member of the advisory board of the Canadian Disability Studies Association.

Bev is a role model for people with disabilities, and she is also an inspiration to everyone who knows her. She is a reminder that anything is possible, regardless of the challenges we face.

Awards and Recognition

Beverly Devries has received a number of awards and recognition for her work as an advocate for people with disabilities. In 2011, she was awarded the Order of Manitoba, the province of Manitoba's highest honor. In 2014, she was awarded the Governor General's Meritorious Service Cross, one of the highest civilian honors in Canada.

Bev's work has also been recognized by a number of organizations. In 2012, she was named one of Canada's Top 100 Most Powerful Women by the Women's Executive Network. In 2015, she was named one of the 25 Most Influential Women in Canada by the Globe and Mail.

Beverly Devries is an extraordinary woman who has overcome adversity to become an inspiration to others.
