Suddenly, one of the children saw something out of the corner of his eye. He looked up and saw a large, dark shape moving towards them. The children stopped playing and watched the shape as it got closer. As it got closer, they realized that it was a great white shark!

The children were terrified. They had heard stories about great white sharks, and they knew that they were dangerous predators. The shark was swimming towards them slowly but surely, and the children knew that they had to get away.

The children started to swim away as fast as they could. The shark followed them, but the children were faster. They swam towards the shore, and the shark stayed behind.

The children were safe, but they were shaken. They had never been so close to a great white shark before, and they were glad that they had gotten away.

The children learned a valuable lesson that day. They learned that it is important to be aware of your surroundings when you are swimming in the ocean. They also learned that it is important to respect wildlife. Great white sharks are beautiful and powerful creatures, but they are also dangerous predators. It is important to give them their space and to never approach them.

Here are some tips for staying safe in the water:

- Never swim alone.

- Always tell someone where you are going and when you expect to be back.
- Swim in designated swimming areas.
- Be aware of your surroundings.
- Don't swim in murky water.
- Don't swim at night.
- Don't approach marine life.
- If you see a shark, swim away calmly and slowly.
- Don't make sudden movements.
- Don't splash or yell.
- Stay as calm as possible.

Here are some tips for respecting wildlife:

- Never feed wild animals.
- Never approach wild animals.
- Never touch wild animals.
- Always give wild animals plenty of space.
- Never disturb wild animals.
- Never remove wild animals from their natural habitat.

By following these tips, you can help to ensure that you have a safe and enjoyable time swimming in the ocean. You can also help to protect the wildlife that lives there.
