The Briefing is a daily podcast from The New York Times that explores the intersection of politics, the press, and the presidency. Hosted by Michael Barbaro, the show features interviews with reporters, politicians, and experts, and provides in-depth analysis of the day's top stories.

The Briefing is essential listening for anyone who wants to understand the complex relationship between politics and the media. Barbaro is a skilled interviewer who gets his guests to open up about their experiences and perspectives. The show's guests have included some of the biggest names in politics and journalism, including President Joe Biden, former President Donald Trump, and New York Times reporters Maggie Haberman and Glenn Thrush.

In addition to its interviews, The Briefing also features regular segments on the latest news stories and trends. These segments are often hosted by Times reporters who provide expert analysis and insights. The show also features a weekly "Fact Check" segment, in which Barbaro and his guests debunk common myths and misconceptions about politics and the media.

The Briefing is a must-listen for anyone who wants to stay informed about the most important issues facing our country. Barbaro's insightful interviews and expert analysis provide a clear and concise understanding of the complex relationship between politics and the press.
