- Inferno (Hell)

- Purgatorio (Purgatory)
- Paradiso (Paradise)

Each part consists of 33 cantos, except for the Inferno, which has 34 cantos. The poem is written in terza rima, a three-line stanza with a rhyme scheme of ABA BCB CDC.

Inferno

In the Inferno, Dante and Virgil travel through the nine circles of Hell. Each circle is home to a different type of sinner. The sinners are punished for their sins in a variety of ways, depending on the severity of their crimes.

Purgatorio

In Purgatorio, Dante and Virgil travel through the seven terraces of Purgatory. Each terrace is home to a different type of sinner who is being purged of their sins. The sinners are punished for their sins, but they are also given hope for redemption.

Paradiso

In Paradiso, Dante and Virgil travel through the nine spheres of Heaven. Each sphere is home to a different type of saint or angel. Dante meets with many of the great figures of history and religion, including Beatrice, his beloved.

The Divine Comedy is a complex and multifaceted work of art. It is a journey through the afterlife, but it is also a journey through the human soul. Dante's poem explores the nature of sin, redemption, and the search for meaning in life.

The Divine Comedy has had a profound influence on Western literature and culture. It has been translated into dozens of languages and has inspired countless works of art, music, and theater. The poem is a testament to the power of human imagination and the enduring human spirit.
